

BigGreenTV:

Open Call to Students for 41st Anniversary Earth Week Celebration!

BigGreenTV (www.BigGreenTV.com), The Environmental News and Video Site, is looking for submissions right now to showcase the work of their audience. We will launch our "Gallery" section, to celebrate the 41st anniversary of Earth Day, April 22, 2011.

This first round of submissions will be for the launch of their gallery, which will be ongoing. To be included in the launch, submissions must be received no later than Friday, April 15, 2011, and will be selected for inclusion by the BGTV team (instructions are on the site's "Gallery" page). Submissions will continue to be accepted past that date, but those received after April 15 will be presented in the coming months.

BGTV will display photos, pictures, poems, videos and other submissions from their audience that will show the different ways kids from all over are celebrating and exploring the natural world and are contributing to solving the environmental challenges and changes their generation is facing.
